ACADEMIC CUSTOMS AND DRESS

The origins of many customs of the academic world are to be traced to the Middle Ages, particularly the eleventh and twelfth centuries when the first European universities - Bologna, Paris and Oxford - were founded.

In their original organization, the universities were like medieval corporations or guilds. In fact the word "universitas" originally referred to any kind of corporation. The students at the universities were equated to guild apprentices, and so the completion of this apprenticeship was celebrated by a "commencement" marking the beginning of their careers.

In the twelfth century, everyone wore gowns. The social and economic status of an individual was shown by the extra features, such as fur trimming, on the gowns. Cloaks with hoods were worn over gowns for protection in bad weather. Degrees began to be awarded in the thirteenth century, and different styles of gowns and different colors came to represent the various degrees and disciplines.

Over the centuries the styles of dress changed, and by the seventeenth century, the wearing of gowns by men had virtually ceased. But the universities, particularly those in Britain, continued to be conservative and strict in the manner of academic customs and dress. At Oxford, for instance, candidates for master's degrees had to swear that they owned a gown and would always wear it at the proper times.

The first American universities were founded on English models. However, the wearing of academic dress was not universal and ceased during the Civil War. The custom was revived in the late nineteenth century, and in 1895 an academic costume code was adopted which, with modifications, is still used.

Most American universities have the standard black gown with the hood serving to distinguish the individual institution. Some American and European universities have adopted or preserved more distinctive gowns. There are three styles of gowns, distinguished mainly by the sleeves: the bachelor's gown, with long, pointed sleeves; the master's, with a squared sleeve, cut so the forearm is free; the doctor's, with bell-shaped sleeves with three velvet bands.

The hood is the really distinguishing feature of modern gowns, indicating the degree (the width of the edging band), the discipline (the color of the band) and the college or university (the colors of the lining). Today's graduates have hoods edged in white (B.A., M.A.L.S.) or gold (B.S., B.L.S.). Many faculty members will have blue edging indicating the Ph.D. degree. The faculty will be wearing hoods representing many distinguished institutions of higher education, e.g., orange and maroon for Virginia Polytechnic Institute and State University, maroon and white for the University of Chicago, green and white for Michigan State University, and navy blue and orange for the University of Virginia.

DANIEL A. DERVIN

Professor of English, Linguistics and Speech

The holder of an undergraduate degree from Creighton University and both master's and doctoral degrees in English from Columbia University, Daniel A. Dervin has been a member of the MWC English faculty for 30 years. During that time he has offered 16 different courses, among them the department's mainstays of modern literature and drama, special studies in James Joyce and D.H. Lawrence, "Psychological Dimensions of Literature," "Becoming Human," and "Hitler and the Holocaust." His six books range in subject from Bernard Shaw to the psychoanalysis of film, from analysis of American politics to British women's literature. A prolific scholar of exceptional breadth, Dr. Dervin has also published over 40 articles and delivered presentations at countless conferences.

SAMUEL T. EMORY, JR.

Distinguished Professor of Geography

Samuel T. Emory, Jr. received his bachelor's and master's degrees from the University of North Carolina, where his father was a professor, and subsequently earned his doctorate in geography from the University of Maryland. From his arrival at Mary Washington College in 1959 as the College's first full-time geographer, he proceeded to build the department into one of national stature. He not only chaired the department for many years, but also taught many of its courses, including political, historical, and economic geography, as well as geomorphology and various regional courses. In addition, Dr. Emory initiated the College's widely admired and emulated internship program and served for many years as both faculty parliamentarian and marshal of the faculty.

JAMES B. GOUGER
Professor of Geography

Having received his undergraduate degree from Montclair State and both master's and Ph.D. degrees from the University of Florida, James B. Gouger joined the faculty of Mary Washington College in 1969, just as the Geography Department was being established independently from the Geology Department. He contributed significantly to the development of the new department by adding a strong technical component, notably cartography, as well as courses in air photo interpretation and remote sensing. Consistent with his devotion to the liberal arts, he developed a new course on the history and philosophy of the discipline. During nine years as department chair, Dr. Gouger worked effectively to acquire the necessary resources to enable geography students to develop skills appropriate to the rapidly changing demands of the profession.

RICHARD P. PALMIERI
Professor of Geography

Richard P. Palmieri joined the faculty of Mary Washington College in 1977, having received his undergraduate degree from the University of Massachusetts at Boston, his M.A. in geography from the University of Texas, and his Ph.D. in geography from the University of California at Davis. An extraordinarily gifted and exuberant teacher, he won widespread admiration for the various courses he has taught, including world regional geography, economic geography, urban geography and — a course that became legendary at MWC — cultural geography. While his commitment to teaching has been paramount, he has also been constantly active in his profession, as evidenced by the extent and diversity of his published articles and invited papers. His devotion to the College has been exemplary, marked by service as Interim Director of the Center for Historic Preservation, as Curator of Furniture, and as a member of the Board of Regents of the James Monroe Museum and Memorial Library.

ANIANO PEÑA
Professor of Modern Foreign Language

Aniano Peña, professor of Modern Foreign Languages, was born in one of the most colorful and culturally productive areas of Europe — the Basque country of north-central Spain. Having received his early education in local Catholic schools and colleges there, Peña first taught Spanish literature and Latin in Bilboa. Once in the United States, he obtained his master's from Temple University and his doctorate from the University of Pennsylvania before teaching at Franklin and Marshall College. At Mary Washington College since 1974, Dr. Peña has taught every level of Spanish language and literature from beginning Spanish to Cervantes. He has published two books, with another nearing publication, and his list of articles and scholarly presentations is extensive. The main areas of Dr. Peña's research are the Don Juan tradition, Cervantes, and Volkerpsychologie.

H. CONRAD WARLICK

Senior Vice President for Administrative and Student Services;
Professor of Education

H. Conrad Warlick received his B.A. degree from Wake Forest University, where he was elected to Phi Beta Kappa; his M.A. degree in English from the University of North Carolina; and his Doctor of Education degree from the University of Virginia, where he was elected to the Raven Society and Omicron Delta Kappa. From 1953 to 1957 he served as a lieutenant in the United States Navy. In 1974, having worked in the Admissions Office at the University of Virginia for 10 years (where he also taught English courses), Dr. Warlick came to Mary Washington College as Dean of Admissions and Associate Professor of Education. In 1988 he became Executive Assistant to the President and subsequently served as Senior Vice President for Administrative and Student Services.

COMMENCEMENT SPEAKER
THE HONORABLE JOHN W. WARNER

First elected to the United States Senate in 1978, John W. Warner is currently serving his fourth term as Senator from Virginia.

Senator Warner is Chairman of the Senate Committee on Rules and Administration—the first Virginia Senator to hold a chairmanship in over 30 years. He is also the second most senior Republican member of the Armed Services Committee and is Chairman of the Seapower Subcommittee. His other committee assignments include Environment and Public Works, Labor and Human Resources, Small Business, and the Special Committee on Aging.

Prior to his distinguished public career, Warner served approximately two years on active duty in the Navy before enrolling at Washington and Lee University, where he received his B.S. in engineering in 1949. Thereafter he entered law school at the University of Virginia, but interrupted his studies to serve another tour of active duty, this time in Korea as a lieutenant in the Marine Corps. He received his law degree from the University of Virginia in 1953.

In 1956 Warner was appointed an assistant U.S. attorney. He was in the private practice of law from 1960 to 1969, when he entered the Department of the Navy as Under Secretary. In 1972 he was appointed Secretary of the Navy and served in that capacity for two years. Drawing upon his extensive first-hand military experience, Senator Warner has established a reputation as a foremost expert on national defense in the United States Congress.

DOCTOR OF HUMANE LETTERS MR. JAMES FARMER

James Farmer has spent his entire life as an activist for civil rights and social reform. Through his dynamic leadership as the national director of the Congress of Racial Equality (CORE) from 1961 to 1966, he emerged as one of the nation's most prominent and influential civil rights leaders.

After leaving CORE in 1966, he headed the Center for Community Action Education, a private agency designed to develop and implement a national literacy program. In 1969 he was appointed by President Richard Nixon as Assistant Secretary for the U.S. Department of Health, Education and Welfare.

Having left government service, Mr. Farmer in 1972 became president of the Council on Minority Planning and Strategy. Five years later he was named executive director of the Coalition of American Public Employees, representing organizations with nearly four million public workers throughout the United States.

A tireless traveler and dynamic speaker, Mr. Farmer has lectured extensively on civil rights throughout the United States and abroad. He yet found time to write his autobiography, Lay Bare the Heart, which was published in 1985 and greeted with both popular and critical acclaim.

In 1985 Mr. Farmer joined the faculty of Mary Washington College, where he holds the rank of Distinguished College Professor of History and American Studies, and teaches civil rights history to over 500 students a year.

THE EAGLE PIPE BAND

The Eagle Pipe Band is a newly formed band making its inaugural performance at today's commencement ceremony. The idea of a band in the Fredericksburg area has been germinating for several years, and Mary Washington College provided the impetus to bring the plan to fruition. There is already a great deal of local interest in the group, which is dedicated to enjoying and sharing quality Celtic music.

Of special interest, and great pride, the Eagle Pipe Band was founded by Dr. Raymond B. Scott, Chairperson and Associate Professor of Chemistry at Mary Washington College. Along with Dr. Scott, the majority of performers at today's ceremony are underclass students at Mary Washington College.

ALMA MATER

All hail, dear Alma Mater,
We sing our praise to you.
High on Marye's Hilltop
You stand forever true;
Born in truth and honor
You ever more shall be,
The model of our future years
And all eternity.

Whene'er we have to leave you
We never will forget,
The lessons you have taught us,
And all the friends we've met;
And we your sons and daughters
Will hold your name on high,
So here's to Mary Washington;
Our love will never die.
